1. Introduction

Sustainable tourism has developed into an issue on various topics, not only in destination planning, but also in regional and national policies, including the Bali regional government (Widari, 2020). In general, tourism is closely related to the originality of nature and culture that develops in society. This aspect is the basic framework of the tourism concept. (Suberata, 2019). Tourism is an activity related to efforts to utilize and enjoy free time (Arida & Parhusip, 2019). Law of the Republic of Indonesia Number 10 of 2009 concerning Tourism Article 6, namely paying attention to diversity, uniqueness and specificity of culture and nature as well as human needs is the basis for Bali tourism development. Until now, the dynamics of tourism in Bali have not been evenly distributed or have had an impact on the entire community.

Gianyar Regency is one of the regencies with enormous tourism potential in Bali. Income from the tourism sector places Gaanyar Regency as the district with the second highest Regional Original Income (PAD) in Bali, after Badung Regency. Various efforts have been made by the Gianyar Regency Government to increase income from the tourism sector one of them is by efforts to involve the community's active role in exploring new tourism potentials. Gianyar Regency is part of a total of 9 regencies/cities in Bali Province which have the potential for artistic, traditional and cultural diversity which is still developing and sustainable to this day, so it is known as an arts district. Gianyar Regency has several factors that support tourism development, including cultural and cultural-based community life, natural beauty, historical and ancient heritage. (Dewi et al., 2022). (Handayani et al., 2021), said, in developing the potential of villages in Gianyar Regency to become tourist attractions, there are at least six attributes that can be used as measuring tools, namely village conditions, unique flora and fauna, local community arts, the existence of historic buildings, reserves. culture, temples, accessibility and conducive conditions for tourists.

In general, tourism in Gianyar Regency still tends to be concentrated in the Ubud area, even though other areas also have huge tourism potential. One of the villages with diverse tourism potential is Kemenuh village. Kemenuh Village is a village with tourism development potential, including very potential natural, cultural and spiritual tourism. Some of these potentials include the Tegenungan waterfall, Tukad Petanu, agriculture, the cultural heritage of Gandalangu Temple, Pemuteran Temple, and Dalem Agung Kemenuh Temple, as well as wooden sculpture crafts.

Sumampan Waterfall is a new tourist attraction in the Kemenuh Village Area. Sumampan waterfall has the potential to be a tourist attraction that is no less beautiful than similar tourist attractions such as Tegenungan, Blangsinga and Kato Lampo waterfalls. Sumampan Waterfall has potential to become a natural tourist attraction. Structuring tourism potential by implementing appropriate tourism development strategies to arrange the land to make it wider and neater so that this tourism becomes increasingly popular with tourists is an effort that must be made. The role or active participation of the community is very important in the development of tourism. (Akbar et al., 2018), community-based tourism has the main goal, namely the community. In community-based tourism development, it can be said that the community has a role in the development sector as planners, implementers, managers and facilitators. According to (Hutagalung et al., 2023) community-based tourism development is a concept about the importance of the role of the community in tourism development or what is called Community-Based-Tourism (CBT).
